

Summer Camps For Older Kids

Parents of teenagers can find a summer camp that suits the needs of their child. Wisconsin Camps like Swift Nature Camp Kids Summer Camp offer coed teen summer camp programs that are just for teenaged campers up to 15 years of age. A Counselor in Training Program offers a transition for teens aged 16 and 17. As a parallel to its summer camp programs for pre-teens, Swift Nature Camp offers a full range of camp activities of interest to teens. Hiking, climbing, ceramics, horseback riding, tennis, kayaking, and whitewater rafting are perennially popular programs among teen campers.

Teens Summer Camp provides teens a special opportunity to make friends in a relaxed and fun-filled environment, build self-esteem and independence, and meet the challenge of new physical and creative activities. Most teens want to do things for themselves and are bored by even the thought of a "normal" camp. Swift Nature Camp has created the Adventure Camp program, loaded with opportunities for cabin mates to leave camp and go out into the big open wild. There are opportunities to take trips to the Apostle Islands, go to the International Wolf Center, or find the way to the Mississippi River.

Swift Nature Camp offers a small, intimate, friendly and non-competitive environment for all of its teen summer camp programs out of the belief that all children, especially those in their teenage years, enjoy this break from the competition of the "real world". A positive, encouraging environment that fosters acceptance brings a welcome balance to young lives. First time campers quickly and smoothly fit in and feel at home in such an atmosphere.

Today's teens grow up too fast and need time to play. An Adventure Summer Camp should challenge your teen to try new things, but not in a stressful way. Camp is not school! Interaction with animals can be a perfect way for a child to learn by the natural discovery of play.

Campers come to love and remember the fun, the companionship and the life in a beautiful natural setting among caring staff and instructors. Many teen campers return summer after summer, returning to see friends and enjoy everything they have come to know as camp life. Summer camp is a great place to find real relief from the pressures of home, school and competitive sports. Be oneself and a perfect place to make lifelong friends. Camp is the open door to self discovery.
